FAR BELOW AN AVERAGE.

New Crop of Wheat Will Be Between 60 and 70 Per Cent. of an Average.

The biggest portion of the wheat crop of this county has been threshed, affording a fair estimate of the yield. As estimated by threshing men and farmers in various sections the crop will be only between sixty and seventy per cent. of an average yield. Much of it is being marketed, many farmers preferring the present prices to holding it for higher prices on an uncertainty.

SUED FOR LIBEL IN SUM OF $5,000

Breckenridge Democrat Defendant in Suit Filed in Ohio County Circuit Court.

(Hartford Republican.)
Suit has been filed in the Ohio Circuit Court against the Breckenridge County Democrat, a paper published at Hardinsburg by Assistant State Organizer, M. F. Sharp, of the A. S. of E. The suit was brought because of an article, or attack on Mr. Sharpe, which we reproduced recently. The defendants are Henry DeHaven Moorman, W. R. Moorman, Sr., and Roy E. Moorman. The petition alleges that Henry DeHaven Moorman, who is also county judge, is editor, W. R. Moorman, Sr., owner, and Roy E. Moorman, business manager of the Breckenridge Democrat.

After reciting the facts connected with his recent visit to Hardinsburg and the County Union at that place the plaintiff quotes the article complained of and which we have heretofore published. The petition concludes as follows:

"He says said statements were and are false and libelous and were published by the defendants maliciously and with the purpose and intent to injure, degrade and defame him and to destroy his influence with the American Society of Equity, and that by reason of said false and malicious publication, as aforesaid, his influence in Ohio and Breckenridge and other counties of this state with the Society has been greatly injured and decreased and his standing and influence as a man and a citizen have been greatly injured and that he has been humiliated thereby and suffered great humiliation, mental anguish and pain on account of said false and malicious publications and has been degraded in the estimation and opinion of his neighbors and the people of his county and State and all to his great damage in the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars.

Whereupon plaintiff prays judgment against the defendants for the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, his cost herein expended and all proper relief. "The article was written because Mr. Sharp made a speech at the Breckenridge county Union advocating a continuation of the present system of financing and marketing the pooled tobacco, to which Mr. Moorman is very much opposed.

The petition is signed by Glenn and Simmerman and Heavrin and Woodward, as attorneys.

HOT WEATHER AND POST CARD CRAZE GO HAND-IN-HAND.

The hot weather of the past few days has witnessed a falling off in the local postoffice receipts, as only the most important mail matters are being attended to—such as business letters, love letters, and letters to "the old folks at home" with the same old request. Postmaster Rowland says he has noticed no material decrease in the ordinary run of love letters, but that a two-cent stamp will carry letters of this variety that in other seasons require a "due 2-cents" stamp. However, he is of the opinion that hot weather does not affect sentiment, but that love letters this weather are short, but sweet.

The post card craze is the most popular at this time of year than at any other, doubtless due to the fact that letter writers make the card far answer the purpose of letters during the mid-summer season.

It is alleged that a soldier leaned out of the train window and with his bayonet delivered a hard blow on Arnold's head. Arnold was repairing the bridge and the occasion was one of the safety platforms to let the train pass. There was another workman with him, and had it not been for him Arnold would have fallen from the trestle after he was hit.

Arnold was put on the train and removed to his home at Sample. A physician was summoned and it was found necessary to remove several pieces of shattered bone from his skull. Arnold's recovery is doubtful.

On the special train were companies from Owensboro, Henderson, Central City and Madisonville. None of the members of Company C, the local company, know anything about the injury to the man. There is much indignation over the affair, and it is understood that the matter will be fully investigated by the railroad company.

Thousands of railroad ties have been coming into Cloverport for the past week, and the business, which has always been immense, shows an increase. The present season is probably the busiest of the year. Seaton & Weatherholt are preparing to ship 20,000 ties to an Indianapolis firm in a few days.

Hot Weather and "Dry" Town
Everybody extends the "glad hand" to the soft drink dispenser these sizzling days, and at present he is more popular than a "pig" on election day. "Loose coin," "chicken feed" and even the new egg all go in the maelstrom of soft drinks with never a word of protest from sweetening humanity.

Local dealers in soft drinks say this season's sales of the cooling beverages thus far have nearly doubled the sales of former seasons for the same length of time. They do not attribute all of their good fortune to the excessive heat, however, but are inclined to give local opinion its full share of credit. They say that since the "dip" has been on seven days in the week in Cloverport the sales of soft drinks have increased wonderfully.

Leg Broken.
Mrs. William Riley, of near town, sustained a broken leg Saturday in a fall received while ascending a ladder to a barn home. The fractured member is healing nicely.

Better Pay for School Teachers
Per Capita of $3.40 For This Year Will Help Fatten Lean Purse.

The per capita for the school year 1907-08 of the common schools of Kentucky will be $3.40, an increase of ten cents over last year, and a record basis for paying the teachers of the State.

This per capita was declared by State Superintendent J. H. Fuqua on an estimate furnished him by State Auditor Hager that the school revenues for the coming year will approximate $2,594,600.

The first annual exhibition of the Breckenridge Fair Association will be one of the best county fairs in the state as judged by a glance at the program and list of premiums in the catalogue just issued. The fair catalogue was issued from the management has displayed excellent judgment in the arrangement of the program, the premiums offered and other inducements held forth to exhibitors and visitors. It is believed that the largest ever brought together in this county, and the occasion will be made into a home-coming week by the Breckenridge county citizens who have wandered away. The fair opens September 3, for a three days meet.

The catalogue was issued from the press of the Breckenridge Democrat and is a creditable piece of printing.

NEW QUARTERS FOR POSTOFFICE.

New Building on Wall Street Will Be Ready For Occupancy About September 1.

The new two-story brick building which is being erected on Wall street, adjoining the Bank of Cloverport building, will be pushed to completion in all possible haste. The work of excavation and laying the foundation has been completed and in a few days it will be ready for the brick mason.

The front of the building will be built on exactly the same plan as the bank building. The ground floor will be used by Uncle Sam as a postoffice, while the second story will be used for offices. It will probably be ready for occupancy September 1.

The new building is being erected by Dr. A. A. Simons.

Towing Indiana Wheat.

The towboat "Wickliffe," the property of Mr. T. F. Sawyer, of this city, has been engaged in towing several thousand bushels of wheat from the Indiana bottoms around Derby, to Cannelton, Ind. Mr. Sawyer has secured the contract to deliver the wheat of that section and his boat will be engaged for several weeks fulfilling the contract.

COWARDLY ACT OF BRUTAL SOLDIER

May Cause Death of John Arnold, at Sample.

Saturday's Owensboro Messenger.

John Arnold, a bridge carpenter, employed by the L. & N. St. L. railroad company, lies at his home at Sample in a serious condition as a result of being struck on the head by a bayonet Thursday while standing on a trestle near Brandenburg, watching the train carrying the soldiers of the Third Kentucky regiment to their homes from the James-town exposition.

It is alleged that a soldier leaned out of the train window and with his bayonet delivered a hard blow on Arnold's head. Arnold was repairing the bridge and the occasion was one of the safety platforms to let the train pass. There was another workman with him, and had it not been for him Arnold would have fallen from the trestle after he was hit.

The Tie Business.

HOT WEATHER AND "DRY" TOWN

Make Soft Drink Parlors Much Sought After in Cloverport.

Everybody extends the "glad hand" to the soft drink dispenser these sizzling days, and at present he is more popular than a "pig" on election day. "Loose coin," "chicken feed" and even the new egg all go in the maelstrom of soft drinks with never a word of protest from sweetening humanity.

TWICE SENTENCED TO BE HANGED

Former Cloverport Negro Is At Last Acquired—Mother Slaves For Years To Save Son.

Her home mortgaged and slaving for years to earn sufficient money with which to free her son from the clutches of the law and save him from the hangman's noose, Susan Walker, a respectable colored woman, of this city, has at last been rewarded by the good news that her son, Bill Lightfoot, who has been twice sentenced to the gallows for murder in Memphis, Tenn., has finally been acquitted. Lightfoot was charged with the murder of a railroad man in Memphis several years ago, and was twice convicted on purely circumstantial evidence and sentenced to be hanged each time. The Supreme Court of Tennessee in both instances granted him new trials, with the result that he was acquitted a few days ago.

When her son was accused of the crime Susan Walker mortgaged her little home in Cloverport to raise money to defend him. Never a day during the four years that his life had been at stake has she ceased laboring to accumulate sufficient means in his behalf and it was through her efforts alone that his case was given a rehearing before the Supreme Court, thus saving his life.

Lightfoot will arrive here shortly to make his home with his mother,

WAITING FOR A DOLLAR PER.

Perry County Farmers Want a Hundred Cents For Their Wheat.

The farmers of Perry county, Ind., in the bottoms around Tobsport, are strong in their faith that wheat will touch the dollar mark and a majority of them are accordingly holding their crops until the hundred cents per bushel is reached. Only two crops so far, it is understood, have been sold, and they are small. In the adjoining counties, however, it is stated that much of the wheat is being disposed of at the present figures, especially in the Derby section.

DULL TIMES FOR THE PILL MAN.

Health of Community Exceptionally Good For This Time of Year, Say Physicians.

The physicians of Cloverport have little else to do but fan the wind and fight flies these days. They say that the health of the community is unusually good for this time of year, and that business is slow in their line. With the exception of considerable sickness among infants there is little illness in the county.

Pull For Louisville.

Mr. J. C. Note, secretary of the Cloverport Commercial Club, is in receipt of a communication from John D. Wakefield, secretary of the Citizens Committee, of Louisville, asking the Cloverport citizens in securing the Democratic National Convention for 1908 for that city. Louisville is working hard for the convention and has enlisted the aid of several members of the National Democratic Committee in the city's efforts.

That a national convention will not only be a benefit to Louisville, but to all of Kentucky, is conceded and Louisville is asking the hearty cooperation of the whole state in her effort in that direction by requesting the citizens in every county to address letters to their Congressmen, Senators and Members of the National Committee urging Louisville's claims.

The metropolis of Kentucky has a convention hall that seats 16,000 persons in perfect comfort, ample hotel accommodations and is centrally located, which are strong points in her favor.

DEATH BECKONS COL. WILL S. HAYS

Veteran Ballad Writer and Poet Is Entering Into His Last Sleep.

Col. Will S. Hays, song writer, poet, editor and former steamboat Captain, is seriously ill at his home in Louisville as a result of a paralytic stroke received a few days ago, and his death is expected to occur at any moment.

Col. Hays has won international fame as a song writer and poet, "Mollie Darling" being one of his best known and most popular productions.

The following poem was written by Col. Hays many years ago and dedicated to the memory of the late Captain J. M. White, veteran river man, whose home was in Cloverport for many years and whose family now resides in this city. Mr. C. W. White is a son,

HIS LAST TRIP.

"I never passed a hall—
"Mate, get ready down on deck,
"I'm heading for the shore;
"I'll find the bell, for I must land
"This boat for evermore.

"Way, here, can you see that light—
"I do—where angels stand;
"For there I'm going to land,
"For there I'm going to land.

"That looks like Death that's hailing me,
"I'll tell the bell—I'm going to;
"I never passed a hall—
"I never passed a hall.

"Stop her! Let her come in slow
"There. That will do—no more,
"The line are fast, and engines wait
"To welcome me ashore.

"Say, pilot, I am going with them
"To ponder through that haze;
"I'll bite come back—putting the bell,
"And work her out of here.

"For I have made the trip of life,
"I never passed a hall—
"I'll take my soul and anchor that
"Fast to the 'Throne of Grace'.

THE ROOM AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life. Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

CHAPTER IX.

THE ROOM was the most important room in the Ryder mansion, for it was there that the colossal carried through his most important business deals, and its busiest hours were those which most men desire to rest. But John Ryder never rested. There could be no rest for any man who had a thousand millions of dollars to take care of. Here the money which he had earned like any king, with as much ceremony and more secrecy, and having for his courtiers some of the most prominent men in the political and industrial life of the nation. Corrupt senators, grafting congressmen, ambitious railroad presidents, insolent coal barons who impudently claimed they administered the coal lands in trust for the Almighty, unscrupulous purveyors of finance and commerce, all vied this room to receive orders or pay from the head of the "system." Here were made and unmade governors of states, mayors of cities, judges, heads of police, cabinet ministers, even presidents. Here were turned over to confidential agents millions of dollars to overturn the people's vote in the national elections. Here were distributed yearly hundreds of thousands of dollars to grafters, large and small, who had earned it in the service of the "system."

Here secretly and unlawfully the heads of railroads met to agree on rates which by discriminating against one locality in favor of another crisscrossed out competition, raised the cost to the consumer and put millions in the pockets of the trust. Here were planned risky financial operations which deliberate intent to mislead and deceive the investing public, operations which would send stocks soaring one day, only a week later to fall like a bomb on the verge of panic. Half a dozen suicides might result from the coup, but twice as many millions of profits had gone into the pockets of the "system." Here, too, was perpetrated the most heinous crime that can be committed against a free people—the conspiring of the trusts, elected by the railroads, to arbitrarily raise the prices of the necessities of life—meat, coal, oil, ice, gas—wholly without other justification than that of greed, which with these men was the unquenchable, all absorbing passion. In short, every thing that unscrupulous leaders of organized capital could devise to squeeze the life blood out of the patient, defenseless toiler was done within these four walls.

When Jefferson entered, his father was seated at his desk, a long black chair before him, giving instructions to Mr. Bagley. Mr. Ryder looked up at his son, and the secretary made a movement forward as if to eject the intruder, no matter who he might be. These were not accustomed to having the guests of the mansion of the Odious so unceremoniously. But when he saw who it was Mr. Ryder's stern, set face relaxed, and he greeted his son as affectionately as "Who Jeff, my boy, is that? Just a moment until I get rid of Bagley, and I'll be with you."

Jefferson turned to the bookshelves and ran over the files while the financier continued his business with the secretary.

"Now, Bagley, come, quick! What is it?"

He spoke in a rapid, explosive manner, like a man who has only a few moments to spare before he must rush to catch a train. John Ryder had been cutting trains at his life and he had cut them off at his life.

"Governor Rice called. He wants an appointment," said Mr. Bagley, holding out a card.

"I can't see him. Tell him I'm busy," came the answer quick as a flash. "Who else?" he demanded. "Where's your list?"

Mr. Bagley took from the desk a list of names and read them out. "General Abbey telephoned. He says you promised."

"Yes, sir," interrupted Ryder impatiently, "but not here. Down town, tomorrow, say this."

The secretary jotted down a note against each name and then said: "There are some people downstairs in the reception room. They are here by appointment."

"The national committee and Sergeant Ellison of the secret service from Washington," replied Mr. Bagley.

"Who was here first?" demanded the financier.

"Sergeant Ellison, sir."

"Then I'll see him and the committee afterward, but let them all wait until I ring. I wish to speak with my son."

He waved his hand, and the secretary, knowing well from experience that this was a sign that there must be no further discussion, bowed respectfully and left. Then Jefferson turned and advanced toward his father, who held out his hand.

"Well, Jefferson," he said kindly, "did you have a nice school year?"

"Yes, sir, thank you. Such a trip is a liberal education in itself."

"Ready for work again, eh? I'm glad you're back. Jefferson, your busy now, but one of those days I want to have a serious talk with you in regard to your future. This artist business is

"Then, Mr. Ryder," cried his father in a burst of anger. "I'm a fool for waiting my time with an ungrateful son!" He rose from his seat and began to pace the room.

"Father," exclaimed Jefferson, starting forward, "you do me an injustice. Ryder laughed and said: "Well, you want to go to, eh? Well, I can't make you marry a girl you don't want, but I can prevent you throwing your money away on the daughter of a man who is about to be publicly disgraced, and I will."

"Poor old Rosemore!" said Jefferson bitterly. "If the history of every financial transaction were made known, how many of us would escape public disgrace." Ryder senior rose, his hands working dangerously. He made a movement as if about to advance on his son, but by a supreme effort he controlled himself.

"No, upon my word, it's no use dis-inheriting you. You wouldn't care. I think you'd be glad to go with me, I do!" Then, coming down to earth, he said: "Jefferson, give me your word of honor that your object in going away is not to find out this girl and marry her unknown to me. I don't want your losing your heart, but don't lose your head. Give me your hand on it."

Jefferson reluctantly held out his hand and was leading up to that.

"If I thought that you would marry that girl unknown to me I'd have Rosemore sent out of the house, and the man too. Listen, boy. This man is my enemy, and I show no mercy to my enemies. There are more reasons than one why you cannot marry Miss Rosemore. If she knew one of them she would not marry you."

"What reason?" demanded Jefferson.

"The principal one," said Ryder slowly and deliberately, and eying his son keenly as if to judge of the effect of his words, "is that the principal one is that it was through my agents that the demand was made for her father's imprisonment."

"And I married Jefferson," then I guessed right!"

answered Jefferson decisively.

The telephone rang, and Jefferson went up to see Mr. Ryder took up the receiver.

"Hello! What's that? Sergeant Ellison? Yes, send him up."

Putting the telephone down, Ryder senior rose and, crossing the room, accompanied his son to the door.

"Think it well over, Jeff. Don't be hasty."

A few minutes later Jefferson left the house.

The door opened and Mr. Bagley entered. He was a small, portly, powerful built man, whose robust physique and eager looking clothes contrasted strangely with the delicate ultrafashionably attired visitor.

"What a seat," said Mr. Ryder cordially, motioning his visitor to a chair. The man sat down gingerly on one of the leather upholstered chairs. His manner was nervous and awkward, as if intimidated in the presence of the financier.

"Are the national committee still waiting?" demanded Mr. Ryder.

"Yes, sir," replied the secretary.

"Let them see in a few minutes. Leave them with Sergeant Ellison."

Mr. Bagley bowed and retired.

Ryder, with his customary bluntness, came right down to business.

Ryder, who had been waiting for the book? he demanded. "Have you found the author of 'The American Odyssey'?"

"No, sir, I have not. I confess I'm baffled. The secret has been well kept. The publishers have shut up like a clam. There's only one thing that I'm pretty well sure of: the author is a man."

"What's that?" demanded Ryder, interested.

"That no such person as Shirley Green exists."

"Oh," exclaimed the financier, "then you think it is a mere non-plume?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you don't think you are reason for preserving the anonymity?"

"Well, you see, sir, the book deals with a big subject. It gives some hard knowledge and some hard facts. I don't think a little thing about launching it under his or her real name. At least that's my theory, sir."

"And a good one, no doubt," said Mr. Ryder. Then he added: "That makes me all the more anxious to find out who it is. I would willingly give this moment a check for $5,000 to know who wrote it. Whoever it is, knows me as well as I know myself. We must find the author."

The result was silent for a moment. Then he said: "There might be one way to reach the author, but in the event of her being willing to be known and come out into the open. Suppose you write to her in care of the publishers. They would certainly forward the letter to whoever she may be. If she does not want you to know who she is, she will ignore your letter and write in the background. If, on the contrary, she has no fear of you and is willing to meet you, she will answer the letter."

"Ah, I never thought of that!" exclaimed Ryder. "It's a good idea. I'll write such a letter at once. It shall go tonight."

He picked up the telephone and asked Mr. Bagley to come up. A few seconds later the secretary entered the room.

"Bagley," said Mr. Ryder, "I want you to write a letter for me to Miss Shirley Green, author of that book 'The American Odyssey.' We will address it to the publishers. Little thing, just say that if convenient I should like a personal interview with her at my office, 30 Broadway, in relation to her book. The American De-his companion. And I'm going to make it my business to find out who the plotters are. I came to ask you to help me. Will you?"

"I will see him hanged first! He has always opposed me. He has always defied my power, and now he's doing it with a vengeance. So if you want to go to, eh? Well, I can't make you marry a girl you don't want, but I can prevent you throwing your money away on the daughter of a man who is about to be publicly disgraced, and I will."

"Poor old Rosemore!" said Jefferson bitterly. "If the history of every financial transaction were made known, how many of us would escape public disgrace." Ryder senior rose, his hands working dangerously. He made a movement as if about to advance on his son, but by a supreme effort he controlled himself.

"No, upon my word, it's no use dis-inheriting you. You wouldn't care. I think you'd be glad to go with me, I do!" Then, coming down to earth, he said: "Jefferson, give me your word of honor that your object in going away is not to find out this girl and marry her unknown to me. I don't want your losing your heart, but don't lose your head. Give me your hand on it."

Jefferson reluctantly held out his hand and was leading up to that.

"If I thought that you would marry that girl unknown to me I'd have Rosemore sent out of the house, and the man too. Listen, boy. This man is my enemy, and I show no mercy to my enemies. There are more reasons than one why you cannot marry Miss Rosemore. If she knew one of them she would not marry you."

"What reason?" demanded Jefferson.

"The principal one," said Ryder slowly and deliberately, and eying his son keenly as if to judge of the effect of his words, "is that the principal one is that it was through my agents that the demand was made for her father's imprisonment."

"And I married Jefferson," then I guessed right!"

answered Jefferson decisively.

The telephone rang, and Jefferson went up to see Mr. Ryder took up the receiver.

"Hello! What's that? Sergeant Ellison? Yes, send him up."

Putting the telephone down, Ryder senior rose and, crossing the room, accompanied his son to the door.

"Think it well over, Jeff. Don't be hasty."

A few minutes later Jefferson left the house.

The door opened and Mr. Bagley entered. He was a small, portly, powerful built man, whose robust physique and eager looking clothes contrasted strangely with the delicate ultrafashionably attired visitor.

"What a seat," said Mr. Ryder cordially, motioning his visitor to a chair. The man sat down gingerly on one of the leather upholstered chairs. His manner was nervous and awkward, as if intimidated in the presence of the financier.

"Are the national committee still waiting?" demanded Mr. Ryder.

"Yes, sir," replied the secretary.

"Let them see in a few minutes. Leave them with Sergeant Ellison."

Mr. Bagley bowed and retired.

Ryder, with his customary bluntness, came right down to business.

Ryder, who had been waiting for the book? he demanded. "Have you found the author of 'The American Odyssey'?"

"No, sir, I have not. I confess I'm baffled. The secret has been well kept. The publishers have shut up like a clam. There's only one thing that I'm pretty well sure of: the author is a man."

"What's that?" demanded Ryder, interested.

"That no such person as Shirley Green exists."

"Oh," exclaimed the financier, "then you think it is a mere non-plume?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you don't think you are reason for preserving the anonymity?"

"Well, you see, sir, the book deals with a big subject. It gives some hard knowledge and some hard facts. I don't think a little thing about launching it under his or her real name. At least that's my theory, sir."

"And a good one, no doubt," said Mr. Ryder. Then he added: "That makes me all the more anxious to find out who it is. I would willingly give this moment a check for $5,000 to know who wrote it. Whoever it is, knows me as well as I know myself. We must find the author."

The result was silent for a moment. Then he said: "There might be one way to reach the author, but in the event of her being willing to be known and come out into the open. Suppose you write to her in care of the publishers. They would certainly forward the letter to whoever she may be. If she does not want you to know who she is, she will ignore your letter and write in the background. If, on the contrary, she has no fear of you and is willing to meet you, she will answer the letter."

"Ah, I never thought of that!" exclaimed Ryder. "It's a good idea. I'll write such a letter at once. It shall go tonight."

He picked up the telephone and asked Mr. Bagley to come up. A few seconds later the secretary entered the room.

"Bagley," said Mr. Ryder, "I want you to write a letter for me to Miss Shirley Green, author of that book 'The American Odyssey.' We will address it to the publishers. Little thing, just say that if convenient I should like a personal interview with her at my office, 30 Broadway, in relation to her book. The American De-pus. See that it is mailed tonight. That's all."

Mr. Bagley bowed and retired. Mr. Ryder turned to the secret service agent.

"There, that's settled. We'll see how it works. And now, sergeant, I have another job for you, and if you are faithful to my interests you will not find me unappreciative. Do you know a little place on Long Island called 'Massachusetts'?"

"Yes," grinned the detective, "I know it. They've got some fine specimens of 'secreters' there."

Paying no attention to this jocularity, Mr. Ryder continued:

"Judge Rosemore is living there pending the outcome of his case in the senate. His daughter has just arrived."

"Here is $500 for you."

From Europe. My son Jefferson came home on the same ship. They are a little more friendly than I care to have. You understand. I want to know if my son visits the Rosemores, and if he does I wish to be kept informed of all their goings on. You understand?"

"Perfectly, sir. You shall know everything."

Mr. Ryder took a blank check from his desk and proceeded to fill it up, then, handing it to the detective, he said:

"Here is $500 for you. Spare neither trouble nor expense."

"Thank you, sir," said the man as he pocketed the money. "Leave it to me."

"That's about all, I think. Regarding the other matter, we'll see how the letter works."

He touched a bell and rose, which was a signal to the visitor that the interview was at an end. Mr. Bagley entered.

"Sergeant Ellison is going," said Mr. Ryder. "Have him shown out, and send the national committee up."

CONTEMPTIBLE AND UNCALLED FOR

Was Newspaper's Attack Upon Leading Equity Man, Says Hartford Republican.

(Hartford Republican.)

The Brickendick Democrat, which carries just below its head line the motto, "Equal rights to all men, special privileges to none," had the following contemptible and uncalled for attack upon our fellow citizen and brother in the cause of Equity, M. F. Sharp, in its issue of July 2: "In our humble opinion the best evidence of the A. S. of E. could make would be to forthwith fire the two interlopers who attended our meeting in the name of Equity, but apparently in interest of Equity's worst enemy, the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company. Especially do we take pleasure in saying that if Mr. Sharp was in Hardsburg in the interest of Equity, his actions and expressions belied his avowed. If ever man left a bad taste in the mouth of his hearers, every man with even half sense in that convention must have been nauseated by the despicable deceit that this contemptible interloper attempted to cloak down. To hail with such Equity man—has ought to have been thrown out the window, had it not been for injuring the glass." Mr. Sharp, who is Assistant State Organizer, elected at the State Union held in Frankfort last Spring, is now on his way to Hardsburg at the instance of some of the State officers to help the organization in that county, which has never been what it should be. This is one of the duties which belongs to Mr. Sharp's office, and it is a shame that when in line of duty strictly, he should be slandered by a sheet whose editor in this article of vilification displays the fact that he is neither a member of the A. S. of E. or does not know the first principle of the society. Mr. Sharp is a man above reproach in his county and has done more to organize and spread the principles of Equity than any man in western Kentucky. When the editor of the Democrat gets ready to throw from his court house window such men as Mr. Sharp, because he does not agree with him, he should remove his "equal rights" motto from the head of his paper. Editor Mooreman is County Judge of Brickendick county, a leading Democrat. The county union which met here last Friday condemned the publisher of the article, and a resolution of confidence in Mr. Sharp.

POOLED TOBACCO TREBLES IN PRICE

That Sold By Independent Raiser In This Instance.

Some people, to appreciate the full extent of a proposition, want a picture drawn in black and white, and in plain clearness. Here, we think, is a deadly parallel in the tobacco situation, which is equivalent to a clear cut drawings. Last year Chas. Grimes, colored, raised a small crop of tobacco on land controlled by the "Whisk" cream, the two sharing in the crop. Grimes sold his holding outright and Great House pooled, so we can have a distinct understanding about the proceeds of each. In the sale Grimes selected his part of the trash and put it on the market, receiving 50 cents and one dollar per hundred for it. Great House pooled and received an advance of one dollar per hundred on the same grade of tobacco, and the authorities are now making a settlement on the outright sale of same, whereby Grimes received at least $2.20 to $2.40 additional. His advance was more than Grimes' sales and in less than 6 months he comes in for another take out of double the original advance; and yet, you will hear parties here and there in Hancock county, say the Equity Society has accomplished little and is on the verge of disruption. Mr. Dumper should take the above proposition and smoke it to a finish.—Clarion.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar, of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 10, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902, believe I could have saved my life and my doctor's bill." Sold by Saver's Drug Co.

HE HAS GIVEN UP

Emperor of Korea Resigns the Throne He Has Held For Forty Years.

THE PRESSURE OF JAPAN

Influences of a Dominant and Progressive Neighbor Proved Too Much For Head of Hermit Kingdom.

Ceremony of Abdication In Favor of Crown Prince Was Performed In Palace at Seoul Today.

Tokio, July 13.—A dispatch from Seoul says that the emperor conferred the elder statesmen at 1 o'clock this morning. The cabinet ministers waited in an adjoining room while the emperor conferred with the elder statesmen. After a two-hour conference his majesty finally yielded and made up his mind to abdicate, and the formal ceremony of abdication will be held today.

Seoul, July 13.—Marquis Ito visited the emperor at 5:30 o'clock evening in response to the emperor's plea. After two weeks of obstinate refusal and silence the emperor sent court officers to Marquis Ito with a message that, inasmuch as both were worried over the presence of the Korean delegation at The Hague, he therefore begged the resident general to come to the palace. Marquis Ito's first reply asked for an audience two or three days hence, after the arrival of Foreign Minister Hayashi from Tokyo. The emperor replied that he would want all of the day for Marquis Ito's coming. At the residence general an authoritative statement of the cabinet's action Wednesday night was given out. It was stated that the cabinet recommended that the emperor retire and leave the throne to the crown prince. The emperor did not reply then, but convened the cabinet for yesterday afternoon. Marquis Ito says that the cabinet is acting on its own initiative and without a knowledge of Japan's plans or desires.

The audience of Marquis Ito with the emperor of Korea last evening lasted an hour. It is reported that the emperor appealed implicitly to the former to help save Korea from her present complication in a manner satisfactory to the Japanese and without doing anything derogatory to the Korean court. Marquis Ito, it is said, carefully avoided making any definite reply and retired without committing himself. A number of Koreans called themselves elder statesmen of Korea have sent a long letter to Marquis Ito intimating that the Japanese would receive their support in their dealing toward the emperor, but failing that they would die a martyr's death and that the whole nation would do likewise.

THE LAST STAGE

Argument in the Haywood Trial Began This Morning.

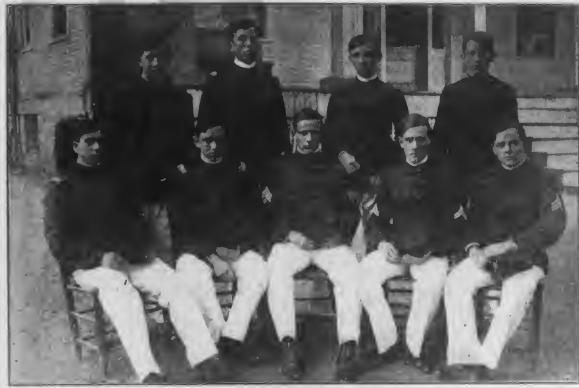

Boise, Idaho, July 13.—J. H. Hawley opened the argument for the state in the case of William D. Haywood this morning at 10 o'clock. It is expected that he will take the entire day. Mr. Richardson for the defense will speak Saturday.

A day of argument on the admissibility of points of evidence followed the announcement from the defense yesterday that they had no further witnesses to offer in behalf of William D. Haywood. The point argued was the proposition to exclude from consideration by the jury the evidence offered by the defense to show by proof of deportation of miners from the Cripple Creek district of Colorado that a conspiracy was formed among the mine-owners and the citizens of the district to prevent the employment of members of the Western Federation of Miners.

Ed Geers Going Home. Libertyville, Ill., July 13.—Ed Geers swept the card at the trotting meeting here yesterday, winning the first two races outright and getting first money in the third by virtue of the association arrangement that no races were to be longer than five heats and that the purse was to be divided according to the summary at the end of the fifth heat unless won in less number of heats.

Educational Platform of Louisville Training School, Beechmont, Ky.

PROF. W. H. PRITCHETT, A. M., Head Master.
Fall Term Opens September 17, 1907.

GRADUATING CLASS OF 1907.

Education is not a mind cramming process; it is not a perfunctory memorizing routine; it is not the treatment of the mind as a vast reservoir to be filled with the myths and rubbish of the ages; it is not the completion of a prescribed course of study with a view of obtaining a cheap parchment and scholastic honors a popular passport with which to victimize the unsuspecting. It is none of these.

Education is, in the true sense of the term, a training, a development, a remodeling of the whole man, body, soul and spirit; the correction of bad habits and the formation of good ones, whether of body or mind, or of the social and business relations; the most potent agency for lifting humanity from a plane of sloth and vice to one of virtuous and useful activity. It is the bringing to bear upon all the material and spiritual agencies and motives which the Infinite Jehovah has ordained for his creatures. It is the ability to use with power, all the elements which God has put into man. All national school training must recognize certain fundamental principles, among which may be mentioned the following:

1. No human mind has its duplicate. The individuality and idiosyncrasy of every student, must, therefore be recognized. The Chinese shoe process of requiring all pupils to complete identically the same course of study, to have their minds cast in precisely the same mould, must be regarded as irrational in theory and impracticable in accomplishment. With the full recognition of this principle, instructors must ascertain and remember the relative value of different departments of knowledge, must answer intelligently the question, "What knowledge is of most worth?"

2. Since system and development are found in the economy of nature, they must be followed in the training of the human being. Some things naturally come first and some second in order of importance. "One thing at a time, and that well," is to be matched with another maxim equally important, "Let everything be done decently and in order." Hence, that teaching is most rational and valuable which seeks and carries out most fully the system found in nature; which establishes most thoroughly and naturally a harmonious connection between the efforts of the mind and the great domain of nature; which brings the student most effectively into love with the word and works of God.

3. Schools cannot secure the same results on all students. They must commence with the mental, moral and physical capital presented, and develop that to the highest extent of which it is susceptible.

4. Unduly sectarian, sectional or partisan schools must, necessarily, be illiberal and dwarfing in their tendency, restricting the minds of their students to but one side of questions and checking the liberal growth which results from the full and impartial investigation of all subjects. Experience has abundantly proven that all shades of belief and opinion may be harmoniously and advantageously trained in the same school, and yet each teacher and pupil be free and untrammelled in his views and liberties.

5. Thoroughness does not consist in completing certain text-books or courses of study, page by page, paragraph by paragraph, word by word, letter by letter, but in the full, complete and systematic mastery of subjects. It is the maturation, digestion and assimilation of mental food, strengthening the individual for vigorous thinking, feeling and doing. We do not advertise to graduate within a limited time as we can not be honest and do so. The time of graduation depends solely on the pupil.

6. Courses of study should be modern and practical in their character, an entire breaking away from the curriculums established during the dark ages and perpetuated by too many institutions of the present day. We flatter ourselves that we have in our curriculum found the golden mean between the extremes. Schools should train young gentlemen for life as it is; should ascertain what the world needs in the various fields of activity; should work in harmony with the progressive spirit of the times, sending its students into the active world much sooner and more thoroughly qualified than during the days of sickles, flails, stage coaches, log school houses and log churches. In short, our schools should, in the matter, method and results of teaching, partake of the general progress which we see exhibited in the arts, sciences, and the business world, yet not be guilty of sham work.

Such are the half-dozen basic principles upon which we found all our efforts in our chosen life-work. We try to live them and teach them. To these principles, closely followed out, we refer our success in our line of work. Money making is not our single aim; but to benefit our fellows by helping in the development of their God-given faculties. It is our ambition to do nothing but honest, conscientious work. No good, honest and faithful teacher ever fails to earn all he is paid. Too many teachers in too many ways degrade their profession.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1907

Hon. R. M. Jolly, who died at Irvington last week, was a splendid type of Kentucky manhood. His personal popularity among his people made it possible for him to overcome a large Democratic majority, as a Republican nominee, for State Senator. He served his constituents faithfully in the upper branch of the General Assembly, through several sessions. Although still quite young in years, he had held many places of honor and trust, and had been a prominent factor in his town and county. The death of such men as "Bob" Jolly is not alone a loss to the party, but their country and State as well.—Hartford Republican.

Mrs. Adelle Hambleton celebrated her sixty-second birthday last Sunday by giving a dinner to a number of friends and her daughter, Mrs. K. K. Koomodala. The dinner was thirty-one years old on that day, and its sixty-two, all of us a pretty lively set of youngsters, aren't we, Miss Del.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have their medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale at Severs' Drug Co.

Mr. Jeff Dowell was badly crippled last Thursday by cutting his foot with an ax.

Mrs. Pollie Argabright, who has been visiting friends and relatives at this place since May 1, returned Sunday to her home at Lodi.

The infant of Mrs. Nellie Dowell died on last Sunday, after three weeks illness.

Railroad Men Wanted.

The demand for telegraph operators was never as great as right now. The Bowling Green Business University has turned out more operators than any other school south of the Ohio river, and still the demand upon it is as great as ever. Its operators are wanted by twenty-three railroads. This is conclusive evidence that the training it gives is satisfactory. Young men desiring information concerning telegraphy positions should write to the Business University at Bowling Green, Ky. Bookkeepers and stenographers are in as equally as great demand.

Drop by drop the offensive discharge caused by Nasal Catarrh falls from the back of the nose into the throat, setting up an inflammation that is likely to mean Chronic Bronchitis. The certain, rational cure for Catarrh is Ely's Cream Balm, and the relief that follows even the first application can not be told in words. Don't suffer a day longer from the discomfort of Nasal Catarrh. Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 50 cents or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren St., New York.

Masons Conduct Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of Hon. R. M. Jolly, at Irvington, were conducted by the Masonic lodge of that place, W. J. Piggott, acting Master of the Bowlingville lodge, administering the last rites.

In the notice of Mr. Jolly's death in last week's issue the above paragraph was unintentionally omitted.

There's more Catarrh in this section of the country than any other disease put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Given By Our Correspondent.

CUSTER, Ky.
 Hawkins Smith was in town Saturday with fourteen Montana horses for sale. They attracted the youth and small boy. Whether Mr. Smith made any sales we were unable to learn, except four colts to Ben Harned for $11.25 each.
 Misses Ella Ahl, Clara Ekridge and Kate Stith, of Hardinsburg, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Dick Penick. On Monday they came into Custer and called on Miss Beatie Taylor.
 Miss Mary Lee Gregory, of Garfield, has made a two weeks' visit to her niece, Dr. J. W. Meador. She returned home Tuesday.
 Buckle Richardson, of Hardin county, near Breckinridge county line, died on Sunday night of consumption.
 A very ugly snake was killed in Mrs. Molly Alexander's yard last Friday. Mrs. Alexander was pulling weeds around her flower bed and just happened catching the snake in her hand. There was no harm done beyond giving her a terrible fright and causing her to be very nervous the rest of the day. Sherman Haynes did the killing.
 Dr. Raymond Meador, Sherman Haynes, Charley Alexander and others attended the show at Big Spring Saturday night.
 Master Irwin Taylor, while visiting in Big Spring, sold his colt that he drove in the runabout, at the time he took his two sisters to visit their uncle, Mr. W. Meador, Jr. Consideration $110. Mr. Meador immediately sold the same animal for $130. The colt was a true mate to one Mr. Meador had. In getting Irvin's colt it enhanced the value of both animals and made a ready sale.
 Butler & Butler are handling a great deal of stock and receive a bunch every few days. We understand they have been successful.
 Our bank is exceeding expectations. Every farmer we hear from is getting his work well under headway. All work has been backward this season on account of the late spring.
 Charlie Carman, who was overcome with heat two weeks ago, is still in a critical condition.
 Henry Harned, a former citizen of this county, but now of Oklahoma, is here with his daughter visiting friends and relatives. He reports Oklahoma a grand place to live and likes the home of his adoption, but Kentucky has the first place in his heart and will always be home.
 Custer is to have a show the night of the 23rd. The last show billed for this town was rained out.
 The State Land Testers passed through this place Wednesday, taking samples from the farms of Bob Cook and Doc Sprinkle.
 Bill Mann, mute, died of heart trouble Tuesday.
 Dr. Raymond Meador and A. B. Suter visited in Big Spring Wednesday evening.
 A. B. Suter, in company with baby Alf Taylor, went to Garfield Wednesday afternoon and from there to Roost to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Head. They returned home Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Ella Taylor, who has been Mrs. Head's guest since Friday.
 School opened Monday morning with sixty pupils. Mr. Trent anticipates an unusually good term this time. Now children, each of you try and do not disappoint Mr. Trent, so far as your individual self is concerned.
 Jesse Huffines, a Custer boy living in Louisville and working for the street car company, met with a serious accident while at work. While running a car out on the switch another car backed up behind him catching him between the two cars, crushing both his legs badly. One leg had to be amputated. His father, J. W. Huffines, was telephoned and immediately started to his bedside. Mr. Huffines returned to Custer Wednesday. Jesse is in the city hospital doing nicely.
 Dick Addison, Cloverport, was in Custer Wednesday. Mr. Addison bought the timber on the Tinius farm and was here looking into the removal of the timber.
 The meeting closed at High Plains with no conversions or additions to the church but a great good done in reviving the interest of the church and the church work. Bro. McConnell makes a fine pastor and the most thorough worker ever on this work. He is always on hand and time and if there is any shirking it is by the church members and not by the pastor.

 Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hoskins and children, of Hardin county, visited the family of J. T. Mitcham several days last week. Mrs. Hoskinson and Mrs. Mitcham are sisters.
 Vernon Pile, after visiting friends here, has returned to his home at Vine Grove.
 Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Penick have within the past week been visiting in the vicinity of Custer. The parents of both live here and there is a large connection on both sides of the house.
 Mrs. John Butler visited her mother at Harned for a few days. Her special mission to Harned was to meet an aunt whom she had not met for fifteen years.
 Little Joe, the infant child of J. T. and Mrs. Clara Mitcham, died very unexpectedly Friday, at 2 p. m., from cholera infantum. It was buried at the Hall burying ground, near Custer.
 Miss Carter has improved sufficiently to be taken to her home in the country. Miss Carter has consumption.
 Butler & Butler are receiving a large amount of stock this week.
 Doc Sprinkle returned from Louisville Wednesday. While in the city Mr. Sprinkle purchased a surry.
 Wm. Butler, Harned, spent Friday and Saturday with his daughter, Mrs. Lida Butler.
 Charlie Butler returned from Louisville Wednesday.
 Quarterly conference will be held at this place on August 4. Rev. S. G. Shelley, the presiding elder, will be present.

Tail Shooting in West Virginia.
 From the Standard Spectator.
 There is an old Confederate soldier now visiting some friends in Greenbrier county, W. Va., who was a holy terror in battle. He was a shot from 'way-back. He came to the reunion at Richmond and stopped off. Among his feats of marksmanship the following simple exploits, we are told, are performed: He can suspend a bottle by a string, shoot and cut the string and then break the bottle with another shot before it hits the ground. With a small calibre gun and large lead pencil he can knock the lead out when the pencil is thrown into the air, and not injure the wood covering. A favorite pastime with him is to start a barrel rolling down hill and put a bullet through the houghole every time the barrel turns over. We call this good shooting.

LABOR TROUBLES
AT TELL CITY.

Strike Among Union Men Threaten
To Close All Industries.
 Tell City is in the throes of a labor trouble, the agitation of which has been going on for some months. Of the 1,000 laborers in that town, 750 are now said to be organized and in the union. Some of the most substantial manufacturing interests of the town refuse to recognize the organization, and as a result many industries are on a stand still, while others are sure to become inactive. It is stated that it is a matter of only a few weeks, at least, when the town industries will be closed as a result. Considerable hard feeling exists over the matter, and it is said that property depreciation in value is very noticeable.—Clarion.

When the baby is teething it is cross and restless, it becomes feverish, and in many cases vomits a great deal and sometimes cannot even keep cool water on the stomach. All the delicate little organs of the stomach are affected, bringing on colic and diarrhoea. Casca-sweet for babies and children makes the stomach right and allays inflammation and prevents irritation. Casca-sweet makes the baby happy and well. Sold by all druggists.

VOICE OF THE CHURCH
Is Raised Against Certain Propositions of So-Called Critics.
 Rome, July 19.—The syllabus promulgated by the pope with regard to the so-called modernism in the faith contains a preamble which sets forth that Roman Catholic authors under the pretext of examining dogmas, explain them in the name of history in such a fashion that the dogmas themselves disappear. To prevent such errors, the preamble says, the pope has ordered a congregation of inquisition to note and reprove the principal errors and every part of the holy scriptures against error.
 Divine inspiration does not guarantee all and every part of the holy scriptures against error.
 The resurrection of the Saviour is not an historical fact, but is purely supernatural. It can neither be demonstrated nor is it demonstrable.
 The Roman Catholic church became the head of all churches, not by divine ordination, but by purely political circumstances.
 The church is the enemy of natural and theological sciences.
 The Christian doctrine was first Judaic, then Pauline, then Hellenic, then universal.
 The principal articles of the Apostles' Creed had not the same significance to the primitive Christians as they have to the Christians of the present time.
